THREATS

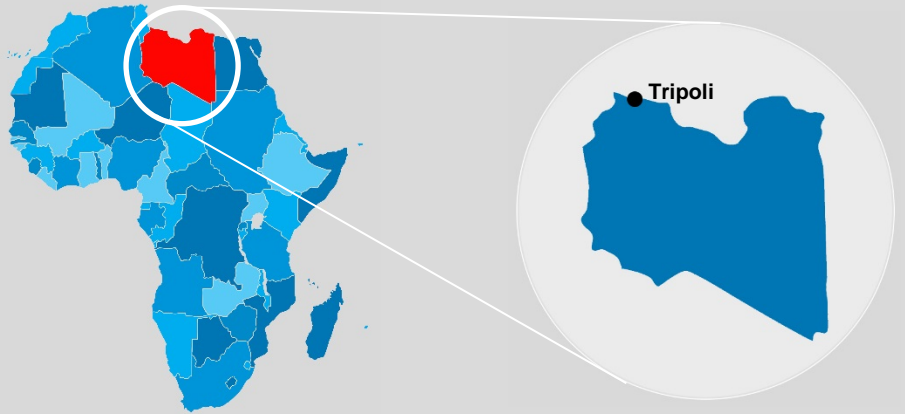

At this time, The UK Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) advises against all travel to Libya, and advises that all British nationals still in Libya leave immediately.

When travelling to/in Libya, there is high threat of:

According to the FCO there is a high terrorism threat from Daesh-affiliated extremists and a dangerous security situation throughout the country. Due to fighting within the country there has been closure of airports, closure of roads and the closure of border crossings. Fighting is likely to break out anywhere without warning, and terrorism is likely to be opportunistic.

Refer to your own government or embassy for further information applicable to you.
