THREATS

At this time, The UK Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) advises against all travel to Gaza, the Lebanon 'Blue Line' and Route 98 along the Syrian border.

When travelling to/in Gaza and West Bank Region of Israel, there is high threat of:

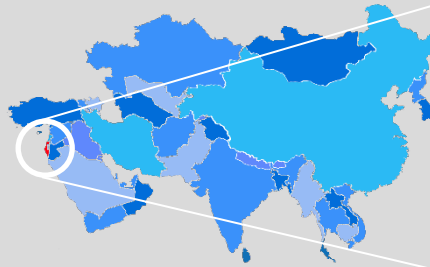

- Terrorism
- Kidnapping

You are advised by the FCO to not enter Gaza by land or sea, and not to approach perimeter fencing.

According to the FCO the situation in West Bank is "tense", with restricted movement in and out of the area. Demonstrations are frequent and likely to turn violent, with additional risk of hostility from members of extremist groups.

Be vigilant of attack by shooting, rocket attacks and bombings, and expect a heightened risk of attack and/or kidnap if you are a British National, due to the conflict in Iraq and Syria.

Refer to your own government or embassy for further information applicable to you.

Due to the present threats in Gaza and West Bank Region, it is widely recommended that you do not travel to this country without sufficient Travel Insurance. Always check your Travel Insurance policy will cover you for high risk locations.
